Dear readers, dear business partners,

A lot of things have been happening here.

This time mainly in personnel, which is why our newsletter is, for the most part, full of HR matters.

However the first article is again dedicated to a technical subject (to supplement our last newsletter).

WSW – The first weeks with the HandySCAN 3D

Our verdict after using it for the first few weeks: "We are very pleased".

In the photos you can see the scanner being used. Here the profile milling model which has just been scanned is being converted into CAD data. With the CAD data we can produce this article subsequently using a CNC milling machine.

In this way constructive changes to the tool can be undertaken with no problems, which would only have been possible by hand without the 3D scanner.

For us this means saving an enormous amount of time compared with a new design.

Marc Stahlschmidt is our new commercial managing director

In May 2020 Marc Stahlschmidt returned "back home" professionally – back to Plettenberg. In the last 10 years Marc Stahlschmidt had been working successfully all over Germany as the managing director for firms working internationally in the fields of electrical engineering and surface processing.

This family man studied electrical engineering in the 90s (qualified as a Bachelor of Engineering) and in the 2000s did a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

He has a clear idea of his objectives as our new commercial managing director at WSW: "My objective is to equip WSW securely for the future and to strengthen its position on emerging from the corona crisis"

To achieve these aims he will work closely with Cengiz Tezsoy, our technical managing director, and the whole WSW Team.

Thomas Hettwer is the new head of the forging department

Since July this year we have been able to welcome back a new old face:

"My name is Thomas Hettwer. In 1982 I started my apprenticeship as a toolmaker at WSW. After my apprenticeship I worked here as a toolmaker and went to night school to qualify as an industrial forerman. After gaining these further qualifications I then worked at WSW as a master smith.

In the year 2000 I left the company to gain experience in other sectors, too.

This year I returned to my former employer where I am now the head of forging and am responsible for production.

I am looking forward to the new challenge and to working well together with my new (and old) colleagues."

Hendrik Böhnisch is our new sales department employee

Since August our sales department has also been reinforced - Hendrik Böhnisch together with Stacy Fotis now makes up our young and committed sales team:

"My name is Hendrik Böhnisch, I am 24 years old and was born in Küntrop.

For more than 3 years however, apart from beautiful Sauerland, Hessenland has also been close to my heart, and currently that is where I still live.

I am an enthusiastic member of the shooting club in Eiringhausen and my latest hobby is gliding.

I am looking forward to new and exciting tasks at WSW and am looking ahead to the future with zest and enthusiasm.

Hendrik Böhnisch"

The "Metallers" of the Prange Group

In the newsletter editions 03-2017 to 01-2019 we already told you about our affiliated companies in detail.

Now this information is available in compact form in a brochure, which of course we do not want to withhold from you.

The brochure is available in digital form as a second PDF file along with this newsletter or also as a download on our website!

We would also be happy to give you this in printed form on your next visit or when we are allowed to be your guests. Just have a word with us!
